Stellar Leader Self-Assessment

It was very helpful to understand the skills needed to be an effective team leader and compare my self-evaluation with the perceptions of my peers in the workshop. This set the path for what I needed to learn in the workshop.”

Tech Lead, Waste Management Services

The leadership simulations highlighted what is important in my role: the importance of small wins in a project, the importance of good communication during all stages of a project, and the benefits of using the creative ideas of all project members.”

Small Wins & Fast Failure

In their research printed in the May 2011 issue of Harvard Business Review, titled “The Power of Small Wins”, Teresa M. Amabile and Steven J. Kramer discovered what motivates Knowledge Workers to do their best work. “On the basis of more than a decade of research, which included a deep analysis of daily diaries kept by teammates on creative projects, the authors clarify the matter once and for all: What motivates people on a day-to-day basis is the sense that they are making progress.”

Framework for Stellar Leaders

You will be guided through Stellar’s Five Domains of Leadership Excellence teaching you to Ignite Vision, Influence Others, Inspire Team, and Implement Strategy. You will also create your plan to Lead Self, the core of the framework and the North Star for you as a leader in all aspects of your life. The feedback you receive will provide you with perspective on how you are perceived by others in each domain.
